If you are a high school junior or senior and at least 16 years old, you can earn college credit now through CCC's Early College course offerings

Career Pathways

Career Pathway courses allow juniors and seniors the opportunity to take college courses while still in high school. Students who complete the course will earn high school and college credit. These courses are known as dual credit courses.

Students may take a sequence of college courses while in high school which could lead to a CCC certificate upon completion.

CCC tuition applies to Career Pathway courses. Tuition assistance may be available, check with your school counselor.

Career Pathway courses currently available at your school are listed below.

Career Pathway Courses

At this time Litchfield does not participate in any Career Pathway courses. Ask your school counselor if any of these Career Pathways could be offered at your school.

- Advanced Manufacturing Design Technology
- Agriculture Sciences
- Automotive Technology
- Business, Marketing, and Management
- Construction Technology
- Drafting and Design Technology
- Health Sciences
- Information Technology
- Mechatronics
- Media Arts
- Welding Technology

College classes are taught on-line, televised, lecture, lab, or face to face instruction either in the high school or at our campuses and centers.

Students are required to meet college admission requirements by taking the ACT, ASSET, or COMPASS test. Check with your guidance counselor for current minimum acceptance scores.

Transferability of Early College courses are determined by the receiving institution. Central Community College transcripts can be sent to any college upon the student's request.

General Education

General Education courses allow juniors and seniors the opportunity to take college courses while still in high school. Students will earn high school and college credit at the same time. These courses are known as dual credit courses.

CCC tuition applies to General Education courses. Tuition assistance may be available, check with your school counselor.

General Education courses currently available at your school are listed below. Additional college courses may also be taken through Central Community College.
